

ABSTRACT

[0050] An interactive system that allows a user to input a list of desired products and receive guidance regarding the location of the desired products within a store. In one embodiment, the system can
5 provide the user with time or distance efficient navigation instructions and/or can provide the user with suggested and/or alternate products.